

SUMMER FIRST

Imagine your reader is an alien from another planet who just beamed down into your home! They want to know what summer is since they don't have it on their planet.

What does the touch of this activity feel like?

What does this activity make you feel like?

What is the first summer activity they need to try?

A large empty rectangular box with a black border, intended for writing the first summer activity.A large empty rectangular box with a black border, intended for describing the touch of the activity.A large empty rectangular box with a black border, intended for describing how the activity makes you feel.

What would it be like to experience this activity for the first time? Use simile and metaphor to compare this activity to one that is more familiar.

